PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

STAY SAFE Instructional Programs (SSIP) - Ajax Ontario.

Sept 2007 to present President - Program Delivery.

- ~ Training: The duties of President of Program Delivery for STAY SAFE Instructional Programs (SSIP) includes the development and providing of provincially mandated training programs to all Canadian security personnel in compliance with the Canadian General Standards Board (CGSB), Private Security Investigative Services Act (PSISA - 2005) and other current and anticipated acts of consistent provincial legislation. Participants are educated in programs ranging from crisis management, effective communications, crowd management, event management, defensive tactics, use-of-force principles, provincial statutes, etc., in order to complete the basic training program as determined by "regulation". Seminars, lectures and information sessions are also provided to government agencies, private industry, the insurance industry, the entertainment and hospitality industry, legal firms and the public sector to inform them of the purpose and methods of the training and its applications. In addition, course facilitators are instructed in the principles of adult education and evaluation practices.
- ~ Research and Development: Methods, applications and educational programs must adhere to provincially implemented guidelines, be effective and acceptable to the community at large and provide adequate, ethical and legal avenues of behavior to all serving members of security services and/or persons performing security related services throughout the country. The development of the training programs necessitates thorough research and knowledge in a variety of areas including: Federal, Provincial and Municipal legislation; local political and operational factors, judicial court decisions, coroner recommendations, and subject capability assessment.
